TONIGHT'S MATCHUP

Overall: Third meeting (Alabama leads, 2-0)
In Tuscaloosa: Alabama leads, 2-0 (1-1 NCAA)
Current Streak: Alabama, Won 2
Last Meeting: Oct. 29, 2005 (W, 35-3)

Alabama and Utah State will meet for the third time in series history and third time in Tuscaloosa when the two teams square off on Saturday evening at Bryant-Denny Stadium. The Crimson Tide currently holds a 2-0 advantage in the series (1-1 NCAA) with the last meeting coming on Oct. 29, 2005 in Tuscaloosa, a 35-3 win for Alabama.

HOLDING ON TO NO. 1

With Alabama's Aug. 15 preseason ranking at No. 1, the Crimson Tide has been ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll at least once each season since 2008. The 15-year streak is the longest by any program and coach in the history of the AP rankings. The previous long streak by any one team was seven seasons by Miami (Fla.) from 1986-92. The previous streak by one coach is six straight seasons, which was accomplished by Frank Leahy at Notre Dame in 1943 and continued from 1946-50 following an absence while Leahy served in the Navy.

OPENING DAY SUCCESS UNDER NICK SABAN

Alabama has been dominant in season openers during head coach Nick Saban's tenure. The Tide is a perfect 15-0 under Saban and has won in impressive fashion. Alabama has outscored its opponents 610-176 in those games and has outgained the opposition, 6,658-3,273. The Tide has averaged 40.7 points per opening contest under Saban and given up just 11.7 points per game. UA has also amassed 443.9 total yards per opener and surrendered just 218.2 yards in those matchups.

SABAN'S HOME OPENERS

The Crimson Tide owns an 81-11-2 (.872) all-time record across 94 total home-opening games. Alabama is currently riding a 20-game winning streak in the team's first game at Bryant-Denny Stadium. Under head coach Nick Saban, the Tide sports a perfect 15-0 record in home openers.

BRYCE AGAINST THE BEST DEFENSES

In 2021, Bryce Young's passing numbers came against some of the best pass defenses in the nation. In seven games against the nation's top 50 pass defenses (then-No. 1 Georgia, then-No. 2 Georgia, then-No. 2 Cincinnati, then-No. 9 Texas A&M, then-No. 39 Florida, then-No. 40 Ole Miss, then-No. 50 Tennessee), Young accounted for 2,192 yards (313.1 ypg), 17 touchdowns, just five interceptions and a completion percentage of 63.7.

MOVING UP THE CAREER LIST

Placekicker Will Reichard has been a consistent presence in the kicking game for Alabama during his time at the Capstone. Reichard has made 40 field goals for his career and has totaled 296 kicking points. Both numbers have placed Reichard on the top-10 lists for Crimson Tide kickers. Below is a look at where Reichard currently ranks.

ONE AND ONLY

Since the start of the College Football Playoff era in 2014, the Crimson Tide has only lost two games by 13-plus points. Most recently, Alabama dropped to No. 3/3 Georgia, 33-18, in the CFP National Championship Game on Jan. 10. Before that, the only other lone loss by 13-plus points or more in that time period came in the Crimson Tide's 44-16 loss to Clemson in the CFP National Championship on Jan. 7, 2019. To compare, Clemson has four losses by 13-plus points in the same time span, while Oklahoma has five and Ohio State has eight.

ALWAYS IN THE HUNT

Since the 2008 season, Alabama has played in 163 of 166 regular season games that have had national championship implications. The final three games of the 2010 season marked the only three regular season contests without direct national championship implications over the last 13 seasons.

THE TERMINATOR

Will Anderson Jr. led the nation in 2021 with 17.5 sacks and 34.5 tackles for loss (an NCAA record since 2000). Those impressive numbers placed Anderson Jr. second on Alabama's single-season tackles for loss list behind only Derrick Thomas (1988 - 39.0) while he was third on UA's single-season sacks list, trailing Thomas once again (1988 - 27.0 and 1987 - 18.0). Those numbers, paired with his 10.5 tackles for loss and 7.0 sacks from 2020, moved him into the top five of both career lists for the Crimson Tide.

"WE GO OUT AND WE ATTACK EVERY DAY
WITH THE BAMA MINDSET - HAVING DISCIPLINE,
PLAYING TOGETHER AS ONE AND JUST BEING AGGRESSIVE ON DEFENSE."

DEMARCCO HELLAMS

The Crimson Tide's secondary received welcomed news shortly after the 2021 season ended. Several defensive starters from last year's team elected to return to Tuscaloosa for their senior season, and among them were both starting safeties, Jordan Battle and DeMarcco Hellams. The duo chose to pass on the NFL Draft and play for the Crimson Tide for one more season.

And both players have their sights set on finishing the 2022 campaign the right way.

"I'm very excited to return," Battle said. "I planned to come back to get my degree in December and hopefully to compete for another national championship this year, as well, with this team."

"That's just something that goes with the Bama standard, coming to Bama. That's what's instilled in you. You wanna win, and if you don't win, you're still hungry. You're hungry for more. I think that's the main thing with the decision to come back for us individually."

Hellams added, "Coming back, it was a decision that I made with my family. The best decision for me. I talked with my family, talked with the coaches. It gives me another opportunity to get better as a player, it allows me to get my degree off the field and another opportunity to win a national championship."

Not only are Battle and Hellams hungry to get back to the top, but they're also ready to lead.

Together, the senior safeties will guide a defensive backfield that has a mixture of experienced returners and young talent. In addition to Battle and Hellams, slot defenders Brian Branch and Malachi Moore are back for their junior years, while several players have competed for the two cornerback vacancies in the starting lineup this offseason. Regardless of who is on the field, however, Battle and Hellams are trying to set an example for the rest of the team.

"Coming into my senior year, I just wanna relay the standard to everyone," Hellams said. "I know what it takes to be a national champion. I know what it takes day in and day out at Alabama. And I just want to make sure that before I leave here that I pass on the tradition down to the younger guys about what the Bama standard is."

Battle echoed, "I've been improving my leadership skills just trying to get the younger guys on board, let the team know what the main focus is for this year. We all know what that is and what it takes to get there. Just reiterating that every day, making sure you practice hard every day and be competitive."

Battle and Hellams have played in every game of their careers – that's a combined 82 games in the last three years. Their experience is why their younger teammates, like cornerback Kool-Aid McKinstry, lean on the veteran twosome for answers and advice, both on and off the field.

"It's big having those guys, Jordan and DeMarcco there," McKinstry said. "Because when I have a question, I still can ask them and know I'll get the right answer to help someone else asking me a question if I don't know the answer right then. Having guys like Jordan and DeMarcco lead us is big because they've been here for a while."

Last year, Battle entered his second year as the Tide's starting strong safety and emerged as the leader of an experienced Alabama secondary. As a junior in 2021, he registered 86 tackles, which was good for fourth on the defense, and also added one tackle for loss, one quarterback hurry and three pass breakups. He added three interceptions, which was tied for the team lead and fifth in the SEC, and returned two of those picks for a combined 111 yards and two touchdowns. He was the only SEC defender with more than one pick-six.

Having him back for the 2022 campaign is good news for the Crimson Tide – and for Hellams.

"Me and Jordan, we've been together since I first got on campus," Hellams said. "That's like a brother to me. Just being back there, me and him, we're very comfortable with each other. Sometimes, we'll know what the other person's doing by just looking at each other. Having me and Jordan back there is a great opportunity for us to both grow as players, and I love playing with Jordan."

After splitting reps with Daniel Wright at free safety in 2020, Hellams seized control of that spot in the starting lineup in 2021. He dealt with an ankle injury sustained in fall camp but was able to play in all 15 games, making 12 starts. The junior from Washington,

DEMARCCO HELLAMS (2)
JORDAN BATTLE (9)

D.C., registered 88 tackles, 2.5 tackles for loss, three interceptions, three pass breakups and a quarterback hurry. Hellams tied Battle and Jalyn Armour-Davis as the team's leader in interceptions, which was also good for fifth place in the SEC, and was third on the Crimson Tide's defense in tackles.

In addition to Alabama, Battle is glad to have his hard-hitting teammate back for another year.

"I love DeMarcco," Battle said. "He's 'Hitman' Hellams. He's a big hitter. He came back and he's doing a great job. He's taking care of his body, great mentally. He's locked in. We're both locked in and focused on what we have to do to get better this year, what we need to change from last year that we got wrong. Having him back and being comfortable with him back there with me is great."

Battle and Hellams could have explored professional opportunities earlier this year but instead chose to come back and finish their college careers on their terms while bringing their younger teammates along with them. Knowing that last year ended in disappointment, while also having won a national title in 2020, the safety tandem is focused for the start of the season.

"We're not shying away from any expectations that we have for ourselves," Hellams said. "We go out and we attack every day with the Bama mindset – having discipline, playing together as one and just being aggressive on defense."

The Alabama Crimson Tide welcomes back 15 starters and 51 lettermen for the 2022 season. On offense, 23 letterwinners and five starters return, while the defense will have 24 lettermen and seven starters back on the field, with all three starting specialists returning. Head coach Nick Saban enters his 16th year in Tuscaloosa, having won six national championships, eight Southeastern Conference titles and 183 games during his tenure at Alabama. Saban's staff for the upcoming season will feature four new coaches but welcomes back offensive coordinator Bill O'Brien for his second season with Pete Golding guiding the defense for a fifth straight year.

Alabama's offense will return five starters, including reigning Heisman Trophy winner Bryce Young. Young took over at quarterback following the departure of first-rounder Mac Jones and kept the Tide offense rolling. The then-sophomore signal-caller went on to set the Alabama single-season records for passing yards (4,872) and touchdowns (47) on the way to SEC Offensive Player of the Year honors along with National Player of the Year accolades from both the Associated Press and The Sporting News in 2021. The record-setting quarterback will be protected up front by veterans Emil Ekiyor Jr. and Javion Cohen along with Seth McLaughlin and Darrian Dalcourt, who return a wealth of experience while vying for a starting spot on the line. Alabama's line will be tasked with replacing All-American left tackle Evan Neal along with right tackle Chris Owens but has a talented group that will compete for the open spots, including JC Latham and Kendall Randolph who each played in every game a season ago. Additionally, the Tide added Vanderbilt transfer Tyler Steen, who spent four seasons in Nashville and was the Commodores' starting left tackle each of the last two seasons. Perhaps the deepest group on offense is at running back. Trey Sanders returns after a healthy 2021 season and is joined by Jase McClellan and Roydell Williams, who each saw significant time last season prior to injury. The running back room also added Georgia Tech transfer Jahmyr Gibbs, who provides explosiveness and versatility to the group. The Tide's wide receiver corps will need to replace nearly 60 percent of its production from 2021 following the departures of All-American Jameson Williams along with two-year starters John Metchie III and Slade Bolden. Alabama returns now-sophomores Ja'Corey Brooks and JoJo Earle, who came on late in their rookie campaign, to pair with transfers Jermaine Burton (Georgia) and Tyler Harrell (Louisville) to bolster the wide receiver room. The tight end group features Cameron Latu, who played in every game including 14 starts a season ago, along with Robbie Ouzts, who served in an H-back role prior to injury.

The Tide defense welcomes back seven starters to a unit that finished third in sacks, fourth in rushing defense and seventh in total defense in 2021. Alabama's defensive unit is led by Will Anderson Jr., who was tops in the nation in sacks (17.5) and tackles for loss (34.5) a season ago on the way to winning the Nagurski Trophy as the nation's top defender. Anderson

Jr. is joined by Dallas Turner and Chris Braswell as part of a collection of outside linebackers that will look to wreak havoc on opposing offenses. The inside backers group returns veteran Henry To'oTo'o, who came to Tuscaloosa and led UA in tackles (112) in his first season with the program, along with fifth-year veteran Jaylen Moody. In front of To'oTo'o and company will be a senior defensive line group made up of DJ Dale, Justin Eboigbe and Byron Young. At corner, Alabama will welcome back Kool-Aid McKinstry, who saw significant playing time late in the season in 2021, along with Khyree Jackson. Both starting safeties return in seniors DeMarcco Hellams and Jordan Battle, who each passed up the NFL Draft to return to Tuscaloosa for a final season. The duo ranked third and fourth, respectively, in tackles last season while also contributing three interceptions and three pass breakups apiece. Both groups could also utilize the versatility of now-juniors Brian Branch and Malachi Moore to provide Alabama with one of the deepest and most talented secondaries in the entire country.

Alabama's specialist group returns all three starters in 2022, highlighted by four-year placekicker Will Reichard. The Hoover native has totaled 296 points during his three seasons at the Capstone and will look to improve upon what has already been an impressive career for the Tide. Kneeland Hibbett took over the long snapping duties last season with James Burnip claiming the starting punter role with the pair working to retain their spot in 2022.
